The following updates and/or corrections have been made to this product.

Page #	Lesson Title	Update / Correction
6	Section 1: Lesson 2: Creating Compound Sentences	Update: Information has been added to the directions under the “Conjunctive Adverbs” heading. The directions under the heading have been updated to the following: Other words, such as however, moreover, furthermore, nevertheless, consequently, therefore can be used to connect two independent clauses to form a compound sentence. Add a semicolon (;) before the connecting word, and add a comma (,) after the connecting word.
6	Section 1: Lesson 2: Creating Compound Sentences	Error: One of the example sentences under the “Conjunctive Adverbs” heading contained grammar errors. The sentence was the following: COMPOUND: I think dessert should be eaten slowly; nevertheless you eat it how you prefer.  Correction: The sentence has been revised to the following: COMPOUND: I think dessert should be eaten slowly; nevertheless, you eat it how you prefer.
